

Jayfus T. Doswell

President/CEO, Juxtopia, LLC

(www.juxtopia.com)

Chairperson, The Juxtopia Group, Inc.

Dr. Doswell earned a Bachelor of Arts (BA) from Oberlin College with degrees in Cognitive Neuro-Psychology and Computer Science, a Masters degree in Systems and Computer Science from Howard University and a Ph.D. degree in Information Technology from George Mason University.

To improve the STEM proficiency among underrepresented minorities, Dr. Doswell created student run and in-school/after school JUICE clubs and chapters so senior Juxtopia® Mentors may train minority students in engineering and entrepreneurship. In addition, Dr. Doswell's Team Imhotep is currently the only all minority team competing in the 2014 Qualcomm XPrize international competition in telemedicine and biotechnology development.

QUOTE: "Great spirits have always encountered violent opposition from mediocre minds"

Albert Einstein

This is a fairly well known/popular quote that has an obnoxious edge to it. I had a poster with this in my college room and moved it to a framed print as an assistant professor. It was helpful when encountering personalities that clashed with my path forward.
